HIGHTOWER'S PAMELA ROSENAU FEATURED ON BARRON'S 2014 LIST OF TOP 100 WOMEN ADVISORS

CHICAGO, IL – June 9, 2014 – HighTower Managing Director and Equity Market Strategist Pamela Rosenau was named to Barron's magazine's list of the "Top 100 Women Financial Advisors" for the third consecutive year, ranking 15.

Barron's compiles its annual ranking of the "Top 100 Women Financial Advisors" to recognize women advisors who demonstrate a significant impact on the financial services industry. The publication ranks advisors according to assets under management, generated revenues and practice quality, among other criteria. Ms. Rosenau also appears on Barron's 2014 "Top 1,200 Advisors by State" list, ranking 53rd among all financial advisors in California. Over her career, Ms. Rosenau has been named to six Barron's honors.

"Pamela's passion for research and intense dedication to the academics of our business are a tremendous asset to our profession," said Elliot Weissbluth, HighTower's CEO. "We congratulate her on this well-deserved honor."

Ms. Rosenau's career spans 30 years of experience as an investment manager. She leads the team at HighTower's Rosenau Group, which oversees nearly $1 billion in client assets. Her extensive knowledge and expertise in the equity markets earned her the title of Equity Market Strategist for HighTower. She also performs due diligence on the firm's third party research relationships and adds, monitors, and prunes research providers as needed. Prior to joining HighTower she worked for various sell-side firms, beginning her tenure at Wertheim & Co./Schroders PLC.

Ms. Rosenau's team also includes Patrick Fruzzetti, a Director and Senior Research Analyst who contributes market commentary, insights and portfolio strategy to the team's equity investment analysis activities.
