CHICAGO —December 21, 2015 — HighTower announces that The Feinberg Stein Group has selected HighTower’s Platform offering to drive the growth of their independent business. The team is based in Los Angeles and operates a second office in Chicago. Previously with Morgan Stanley, The Feinberg Stein Group manages $450 million under the leadership of Founders Joseph W. Feinberg and Tamara M. Stein.

“The HighTower Platform is the premier destination for top-tier advisors who aspire to launch and grow an independent business,” said Michael Parker, Chief Development Officer at HighTower. “Teams like The Feinberg Stein Group derive tremendous value from belonging to an elite and exclusive community of their peers that provides unparalleled infrastructure and services to fuel growth.”

The HighTower Platform combines the firm’s award-winning Blueprint for Growth practice management tools with sophisticated investment solutions, compliance, transitions, IT and back-office services to accelerate growth and mitigate the risks of running an independent business.

The Feinberg Stein Group works with private clients, families, corporate and non-profit institutions to accumulate and preserve wealth, and specializes in serving clients in the legal industry. Mr. Feinberg focuses primarily on philanthropic and non-profit investing, estate planning strategies and after-tax return on investing. Ms. Stein specializes in high-net-worth investment strategies, including wealth preservation and transfer. She also works with non-profit investors looking to make a positive impact through philanthropy and advises clients nearing or beginning their retirement.

“HighTower aligns our practice with the collective wisdom of our industry’s strongest performers,” said Mr. Feinberg. “The ability to take advantage of HighTower’s vast resources and elite community while maintaining ownership of the practice is a win-win situation not just for Tamara and me, but most importantly, for our clients.”
